
WEATHER IS a perennial conversational opener that often can be expanded into a full-length discourse, especially when it's "unusual" weather that is the basic topic.

There is no question that discussion on the weather often nicely "breaks the ice" (no pun intended) when two strangers meet. "Is it hot (or cold) enough for you?" or "it looks like rain," are terms used as salutations almost as much as the more prosaic greetings of "How are you" or "How-do-you-do."

We have often wondered what would be used as the common denominator in conversations, if the weather wasn't around to talk about.

Of course, in this day and age some popular television program could possibly get things started, conversationally speaking, that is. Except not all persons (fortunately) as yet are addicted to TV in the same degree.

Some still use the box sparingly as opposed to those who have become habitual TV-ERS.

But if the current TV-watching trend continues, there is a remote possibility that maybe in the distant future, an organization similar to "Alcoholics Anonymous" or "Gamblers Anonymous" will have to be formed.

It could be called "TV-Anonymous". Whenever anyone felt the overpowering urge to turn a knob on the TV, he could call on someone from the group who had kicked the habit to help him overcome the desire.

But anyway TV was not what we started out to discuss.

We were talking about the weather.

NO MATTER how popular individual TV programs can become, sooner or later they fade away. So one has to almost know the "ratings" to find a mutual stamping ground.

That isn't true about the weather. Weather is something we will always have with us. With or without smog.

Despite the criticism that it shows a lack of originality to open in the weather vein, in our opinion, weather makes a delightful topic for conversation. There can be so many ramifications and variations just in one day's work of Mother Nature.

Just recently, for example, during the current wet spell, the sun was shining while it was raining. It was the first time that we can recall when we had used our dark glasses in the rain.

Not so long ago on Campbell Ave., the sun was shining in one area while just a few blocks away there was a thick fog.

WE HADN'T intended to get so long-winded on this subject. But it just goes to show what can be done with weather as a topic. We already have filled half this column.

We might add also, for the benefit of readers of this column, that there is another dis-

By a reluctant 3-2 vote

Planners ok pre-zoning for drive-in theater lots

Planning Commission members on Monday night reluctantly went along with the long drawn-out legal process that will bring the Winchester Drive-in Theater into the city limits of Campbell.

By a 3-2 vote (Commissioner Ed Pack was absent) the commission recommended that the property on which the theater is located be prezoned M-1-S (light manufacturing) and the parcel just north, also owned by the Syufy Enterprises, be zoned R-3-S (multiples).

But it took two motions, a little prodding from City Attorney Joe Bonacina and Dick Hogan, planning director, and a modification of the application before the vote could be recorded.

The motion that finally passed excluded all property other than that owned by the theater from the prezoning recommendation. The city staff had included adjacent properties, also under county jurisdiction, in the prezoning recommendation.

The prezoning step was necessary, it was pointed out, so that the theater parcel of 22 acres will have the proper zone in effect when it comes into the city. Hogan said the annexation petition that had been filed would be acted on by the Local Advisory Formation Committee on April 4 at 2 p.m.

The commissioners indicated that because the adjacent properties were not contemplating annexation at this time, they should not be included.

NO "ARC"

Another modification included the extension of the parcel on which the theater is located in an "arc" into the northern portion. The "arc" concept had been approved by the county and city council. The commissioners felt that this zoning extension was unnecessary.

The second motion to approve the prezoning with the modifications had to be submitted twice by Thayer Lyons before he could get a second to it. After his first motion to approve the prezoning with the "arc" died for lack of a second. Lyons then moved for approval ex-

Citizens committee forms to promote beautification

Tentative plans for a continued beautification program for Campbell to be kicked off by the second annual communitywide clean-up campaign were outlined at the organizational meeting of "Citizens Committee for City Beautification" held last week.

Dr. Ed Rogers, chairman of the council committee for civic improvement, was named head of the new citizens committee with Mrs. Ruth Hartman, of the Campbell Garden Club, as vice-chairman.

Councilman Rogers was "drafted" for the chairmanship of the new committee because the council committee, which he has headed, has "pioneered" action on the beautification front in the past.

It was felt by the representatives of various civic groups present that his dual role would provide greater liason between the city and citizens during the formation period of the citizens committee.

Rogers acted as official head of the highly successful clean-up, tree-planting program for Los Gatos Creek last year.

The new committee, which will serve in an advisory capacity to the council committee, will meet again on Wednesday, April 5, to outline definite plans for the clean-up campaign which is tentatively slated for the third week in April. Carl Kuhn, administrative aide for the city manager, will act as secretary for the citizens group.

The council committee will meet beforehand to establish the city's participation in this communitywide

Police auction nets $345

Spasmodic showers failed to dampen the enthusiastic bidding of a crowd of approximately 100 enthusiastic bidders Saturday morning in the semi-annual police auction of unclaimed articles. The parking lot at the rear of the city hall was the scene of the activity when $345 was raised from the sales.

Lt. Don Burr, in charge of the auction (on the right), offered to postpone the event because of the weather. But the crowd preferred to bid in the rain rather than come back again. So the cops donned rain gear and went into action. Sgt. John Butler assisted Burr.

In the lower photo Chuck Ellner, reserve officer, holds up one of the bikes that was on the auction block. He was assisted by Ron Pennington, another reserve.

Approximately 25 bikes were sold on Saturday, ranging from $9 to a high of more than $20.

A check protector brought $25 while a hub cap went for 36 cents.

May your EASTER be Blessed

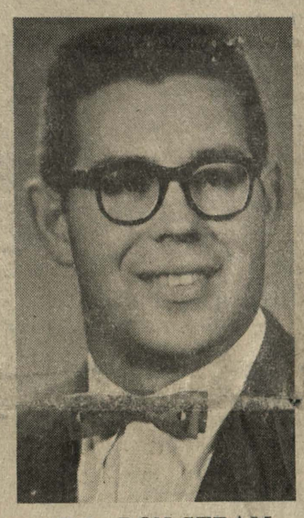
Traditionally The Campbell Press calls upon a local clergyman to present the Easter message in the issue that appears during Easter Week.

The message in today's issue is by the Rev. Don Stram, pastor of the First Christian Church of Campbell.

The Rev. Stram has been minister of the Campbell church since June, 1964. During his tenure a new church building was completed on Pollard Rd. in Campbell and his congregation has experienced a steady growth. Prior to the construction of the new church, services were held in the Orchard City Grange Hall.

The Rev. Stram is a graduate of Dakota Bible College and came to Campbell from Salem, Oregon. He also has had pastorates in South Dakota, Oklahoma and Idaho.

He and Mrs. Stram reside at 1758 Conrad with their five children.



REV. DON STRAM

Easter 1967

It is said that news of the history-making battle between Wellington and Napoleon came by means of a sailing vessel to the south coast, and by semaphore was wig-wagged overland toward London. Atop Winchester Cathedral, the semaphore began to spell out the eagerly awaited message: W-E-L-L-I-N-G-T-O-N - - - D-E-F-E-A-T-E-D --- and then a dense fog settled oppressively over the land! The message could no longer be seen, and thus the sad, heartbreaking news of the incomplete message overwhelmed the countryside in gloom and despair: WELLINGTON DEFEATED!

But when the fog lifted, and again the signaling atop Winchester Cathedral became visible, the message was completed: W-E-L-L-I-N-G-T-O-N - - - D-E-F-E-A-T-E-D - - - T-H-E - - E-N-E-M-Y! Now the message was the more glorious because of the preceding gloom. The joyful news spread, lifting spirits to a plane of gratitude and jubilant praise: WELLINGTON DEFEATED THE ENEMY!

On the gray, bleak hill of Calvary a proud and arrogant world laughed out the message: J-E-S-U-S - - - D-E-F-E-A-T-E-D - - - and the fog of three days shrouded the message. But on that first day of the week, the fog was driven away by brilliance of the radiant sunshine from Heaven, and an empty tomb proclaimed the whole message: J-E-S-U-S - - - D-E-F-E-A-T-E-D - - - D-E-A-T-H! And over hill and valley, from generation to generation, men have rejoiced to re-echo the truth: "HE IS RISEN!"

Some fine religious folk are distressed today by the advancement of the theory that GOD IS DEAD. They wonder if it is a new discovery; the product of our scientific age. It should be re-stated that men of all ages have either regarded Jesus Christ as a Human Deceiver or a Divine Deliverer. Read again Matthew 27:62-66 and Matthew 28:11-15 and you will note the pro-genitors of the present "God is dead" movement. The soldiers were "bribed" by the chief priests (the religious leaders of their day) to say: "His disciples came by night, and stole Him away while we slept." When they referred to Christ's promise of resurrection, they called Him a "deceiver". But over 500 personally witnessed the Resurrected Christ! To them He was the Divine Deliverer!

It should therefore come as no real shock to us that there are those today still living under the gloomy blanket of fog, saying, "GOD IS DEAD"; "JESUS DEFEATED!" But thanks be to God, the majority of us enjoy the radiant sunshine which has burned away the distressing fog. We know and enjoy the full message: "JESUS DEFEATED DEATH!" "HE IS RISEN!" And His promise is: "Because I live, ye shall live also!" (John 14:19)

GETTING READY--David Brooks (7) hands the Rev. A. W. Myers, of the Congregational Church of Campbell, an Easter lily to help decorate the church for Easter Sunday services.

David's brother and sister, Richard (9) and Nancy (11), stand by with "reserves". They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brooks, 1615 Clarkspur, San Jose, active in Sunday School activities at the church.

Local churches schedule special Easter services

Local churches will mark the agony and death of Jesus Christ with solemn Good Friday services beginning at 12 noon. Church altars, now draped in purple, symbolizing that Christ died for the sins of mankind, will give way to shining white on Easter morning, when churchgoers will celebrate Christ's Resurrection.

Four Campbell churches, First Methodist, St. Lawrence Episcopal, Immanuel United Presbyterian, and Congregational Church of Campbell, will join in a three-hour observance of the Good Friday crucifixion ritual at the Congregational Church of Campbell, 400 W. Campbell Ave., this Friday, March 24, from noon until 3 p.m.

Participants will include Rev. Clifford R. Alsen, Rev. A.D. Carson, Rev. William H. Gould, Dr. Alan R. Goozee, and Rev. Anthony Wayne Myers. The Junior Choir of the Congregational Church and a soloist from the Methodist Church will participate.

The Congregational Church will hold an Easter Sunday Family Worship service at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Junior and Adult choirs will sing. There will be no church school.

ST. LUCY'S

St. Lucy's Catholic Church, 2350 Winchester Blvd., will hold three hours devotion on Good Friday between 12 and 3 p.m. Liturgical Service (including Holy Communion) will start at 1:45 p.m. Stations of the Cross and Venerations of the Cross will be held at 8 p.m.

Confessions will be held between 3 and 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Editorial

For beautification

A new civic committee whose purpose will be to work toward the beautification of the City of Campbell has been organized.

The plan is to make this a permanent organization in order to coordinate the various improvement projects of the community.

At the first organizational meeting, representatives of various community organizations and the city administration officially launched the "Citizens Committee for City Beautification" and named Councilman Ed Rogers as chairman.

Councilman Rogers has headed the City Council's civic improvement committee for the past two years and he has shown vital concern in a beautification program for the community. He will continue to head the council committee.

By Councilman Rogers serving in the dual role, at least during the time the new civic improvement committee is getting off the ground, it was felt that better liason would be established between the city administration and the citizens group. This would result in a more coordinated citywide effort in the undertaking of the many beautification projects that have been proposed.

Obviously the city's cooperation will be necessary, for many of the projects must have official sanction and support if they are to be successful.

Last year in April, the city staged a successful beautification and clean-up campaign, under the overall direction of the Council committee headed by Rogers. The clean-up crusade last year centered on improving the Los Gatos Creek banks including the planting of trees.

Many community organizations cooperated and participated in last year's program. But it was felt that a greater communitywide interest could be developed, if a citizens committee was organized on a permanent basis to act more or less in an advisory capacity to the council's unit.

We have long maintained that without this total involvement of organizations and citizens in these projects, it will be difficult to reach the goals that we all desire for our community.

That is why we are enthusiastic over the formation of this new citizens committee and we feel that having Councilman Rogers head it for the first year will give it a greater impetus than otherwise would be possible.

Mrs. Ruth Hartman, of the Campbell Garden Club, has been named vice-chairman of the citizens committee and Carl Kuhn, administrative aid to the city manager, has been officially designated as secretary.

At the organizational meeting, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club, the Rotary Club, the Country Woman's Club, the Campbell Garden Club, the Postal Employees Association, the Fire Department, Parks and Recreation Commission, and the City Employees Association, were on hand to get the civic committee going.

That was a good foundation. But for the committee to do the jobs that need to be done (and we all must admit that there are plenty of projects available), more organizations, more citizens and more groups of interested people must play a part.

We suggest that the various homeowners' groups, active or inactive, in different parts of the community should take an active interest in this beautification program for the city and become vital cogs in the civic machinery that has been set up.

Definite plans for this year's clean-up program and another tree-planting project will be outlined at the next meeting of the citizens committee which has been scheduled for Wednesday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the city hall.

One of the "volunteer" civic improvement projects that has received the enthusiastic endorsement of the City Council has been undertaken by the Rotary Club.

Approximately 28 trees will be placed in redwood tubs on the sidewalks for two blocks on both sides of Campbell Ave.

The Rotary Club hopes to extend the project in the future so that all of Campbell Ave. from Winchester to Harrison will have similar trees.

This project very definitely will improve the appearance of Campbell Ave. immediately. When the street is widened the trees can be removed from tubs and planted permanently.

Another project that has been suggested, but as yet no civic group has offered to undertake it, would be the spelling out of the name "CAMPBELL" in colored rocks along the west bank of Los Gatos Creek north of Campbell Ave., so to be viewed from the freeway.

Still another project which is being studied by the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce concerns the beautifying of the 25-foot right-of-way along the railroad tracks from Campbell Lumber Co. to the city limits adjacent to Campbell's industrial park.

The new civic committee at its meeting on April 5 will concern itself mainly in the development of Campbell's second annual clean-up and tree-planting project that was so successfully initiated last year.

tinct advantage to this weather bit.

It provides a respite from the reactions to some of the controversial points of view that sometimes make their way off our typewriter and into this column.

It is difficult, you might say, to get too exercised over weather conditions. There is nothing that can be done about it anyway. So it is accepted.

But we don't have to accept (and we don't intend to) outward defiance of the basic rules of decency that have been established for our society.

And the condoning of this defiance by mature adults, in our opinion, is morally wrong whether the adult is a minister, a newspaperman or whatever.

But we don't want to get started on that again.

It's safer to stick to the weather.

FOR THE MORE THAN a decade that we have been operating this newspaper, we have sounded off periodically about how often Campbell seems to have been ignored or overlooked by those in positions of authority in county government circles or in the so-called metropolitan area.

It has been an uphill fight all the way to get Campbell recognized for what it is today rather than what it was in the past.

There are many who argue that this oversight is a deliberate intent to down-grade Campbell.

But we have always felt that it was just ignorance on the part of outsiders and that eventually Campbell would gain its proper recognition.

We actually thought we were gaining.

That is, until we reviewed the recent directory issued by the County Planning Commission on industrial parks and indistrial districts in the county.

-0-

ACCORDING TO THE directory, there is no industrial district in Campbell. Maps and descriptions in the directory list various industrial sites in the county ranging from three-acre to 1000-acre parcels.

But not in Campbell.

To those of us who recall the pioneering this city did in establishing the C-M (controlled manufacturing) industrial park and the research and study that went into establishing adequate industrial zoning in this city, this "oversight" on the part of the county planning department seems inexcusable.

You can imagine what the reaction was of this "oversight" by Lowell Grattan, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee; Jim Duffield, C. of C. manager and Dick Hogan, city planning director.

They are well aware as are many outstanding industries, fortunately, of the extent and advantages of Campbell's industrial areas, even if the county planning department apparently does not know they exist.

event.

It was emphasized at the meeting that all community organizations, including homeowner groups, as well as service clubs, should be represented on the citizens group.

City Manager Bob Stephens reported that many potential beautification projects had already been suggested and that one of the functions of the committee would be to schedule such projects for individual organizations.

Stephens said that one particular project (which so far has no takers) would be to outline in colored rocks the name 'CAMPBELL' on the west bank of Los Gatos Creek north of Campbell Ave. to be seen from the freeway.

He also described the approved project of the Campbell Rotary Club which will set out 28 trees in redwood tubs along the sidewalk in downtown Campbell.

Committee members agreed that a similar clean-up, tree-planting program that was so successful last year should be the first communitywide effort.

Those present at the first meeting and the organizations they represented included: Mrs. Minnie Snyder, and Mrs. Hartman, Garden Club; Glen Knowles, Postal Employees Association; Mel J. Lindstrom and Phil Auger, Jaycees; Bud Allen, Rotary; Frank R. Kukuk, Kiwanis and Parks and Recreation Commission; Mrs. Sally Howe, Country Woman's Club; Jim Duffield, Chamber of Commerce; George Maxwell, fire chief; Ed Finlay, city employees association; Rogers, councilman; Stephens, Kuhn, Bob Rigsby, city administration; George Vierhus, Campbell Press.

cluding the "arc".

He finally got a second to that motion from Kel Young after Chairman Jack Healey had suggested Lyons try it again.

On the motion Healey, Young and Lyons voted for approval with Commissioners Dean Chamberlin and Frank Klein opposing.

During the discussion preceding the vote Klein emphasized that the northern parcel that was being prezoned R-3-S had no access to Union or any other street except for an agricultural easement. He felt it was poor planning thus to change the zone. He also maintained that the theater owners should provide access to this property from Winchester Drive through their own property.

SERVICE STATIONS

The commissioners had also divided in their vote by a 3-2 split in a previous action approving a proposed Standard station at East Parr and Winchester.

The action on the service station had been continued from a previous meeting when the commission deadlocked 3-3. The vote Monday on the use permit for the station saw Young, Klein and Chamberlin voting for it and Lyons and Healey opposing.

Lyons cast the lone no vote on the request for a variance that was also part of the application. The commissioners also suggested that the oil company come back with plans for a smaller sign before final approval was granted.

ANOTHER ONE

The commission also approved the request for a use permit by a 4-1 vote (Klein dissenting) to remodel and reopen the service station located at E. Rosemary and Winchester. According to the applicant (Golden Eagle Refining Co.), this will be a coin-operated station. The commission specified that an attendant must be on duty at all times. The applicant must also come in for approval of plans at a later date.

In another action, the commission approved the request for rezoning three parcels owned by the Forman Development Co., at McGlincey Lane and Union. They first eliminated from the application the request to change one of the lots from the present CM:B-20 (controlled manufacturing).

A number of property owners in the area were present to urge that the present CM zoning be retained. A petition was submitted by Mrs. Paul Montesano with 23 signatures.

IN OTHER ACTIONS

In other actions, the commission approved the plans of Ray Kanawyer for nine 4-unit apartments on Nello Dr. and for a sign for the Jack-in-the-Box Restaurant at 30 S. San Tomas Rd.

The commission also recommended approval of the text amendment regulating open space requirements adjacent to streets and approved the tentative subdivision map for 59-lots on Westmont between Harriet and Abbott.

The commission also heard the report from Frank Thompson, developer of property in the Phoenix Drive-Hamilton area, that most of the objections raised by residents on Bismarck Dr. had been ironed out in an informal conference held while the commission meeting was going on.

In a letter to Planning Director Hogan, the residents had expressed concern over the type of development and controls that would be in effect in the business development that is planned for Phoenix Dr. adjacent to them.

Dr Torigoe's office entered

The office of Kenji Torigoe, local dentist at 18 Poplar Ave. was broken into over the week-end and a small table radio stolen.

The filing cabinets were rifled, but no narcotics or petty cash was taken, according to the police report. Entry was made by smashing a glass window in a side entrance door.

RAIN DROPS

The last week of winter left 1.88 inches of rain to swell the already full reservoirs and brought the total rainfall for the year to 19.91 inches.

Last year total precipitation measured 11.65 inches with normal recorded at 12.13.

Campbell Water Company tables show that 1963 was the last year in which recorded rainfall exceeded 20 inches, with a season total of 23.03.

Only 12.03 inches of rain were received during the entire 1965-1966 rain year.

PG&E's water wonderland.

More than 100 lakes for electricity... also provide recreation, irrigation, other benefits

Each year, runoff in many Northern and Central California mountain streams is captured and stored behind PG&E dams—forming scenic lakes for fishing, boating, camping and swimming.

This water turns the generators that make a lot of your PG&E electricity. Then it flows on for use by you and others in countless ways. Stored water is one of California's most precious resources.

Conservation is a PG&E Policy

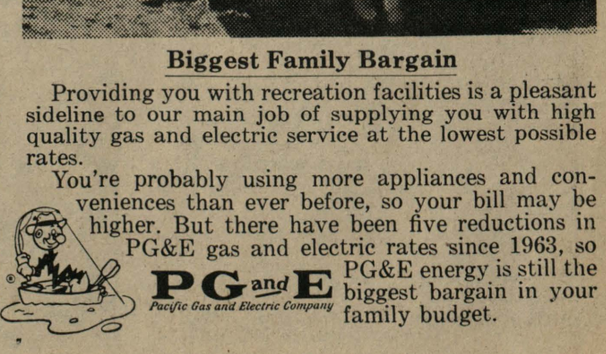
From the McCloud River in the Cascades to the Kings River in the Sierra Nevada 300 miles south, PG&E's waterpower system includes more than 100 man-made lakes.

In addition to water conservation, we conserve the soil, trees, fish and wildlife on these properties—which we make available for your use and enjoyment. Our properties are open to all except in a very few instances where public safety prevents it.

Campground and Picnic Areas

In many popular recreation areas we have provided campgrounds to encourage maximum use of PG&E lands for recreation. These facilities include tables, benches, stoves, refuse containers and restrooms. They're set up in areas that we care for like parks. And you're invited to use them.

To guide you to these campgrounds and picnic areas, we have published a free booklet with a map and descriptions of facilities at each location. It's called "Your 1967 Guide to PG&E Campgrounds and Picnic Areas." Ask any PG&E office for a copy.



PG&E Fishing Reports

Our releases of stored water for power generation help maintain stream flows throughout the summer. Many good fishing streams would be dry in summer and fall except for upstream storage for power generation.

Each week during trout season, our local hydro system employees provide a reliable report on stream conditions on dozens of watersheds as a free service to weekend anglers. This report is made available through more than 230 newspapers, radio and TV stations, outdoor publications and many sporting goods stores in Northern and Central California.

Biggest Family Bargain

Providing you with recreation facilities is a pleasant sideline to our main job of supplying you with high quality gas and electric service at the lowest possible rates.

You're probably using more appliances and conveniences than ever before, so your bill may be higher. But there have been five reductions in PG&E gas and electric rates since 1963, so PG&E energy is still the biggest bargain in your family budget.

Mrs. Hall will host community concert workers

Campbell members of Los Gatos Community Concerts who are also membership drive workers will gather at the home of Mrs. Wallace Hall, on Monday, March 27, to organize the 19th annual drive for membership in the popular concert series.

The drive officially begins Monday, April 3, but president of the group, Harwood Warriner, cautions current members that since the concerts will be returning to the Los Gatos High School Auditorium where the seating in the completely remodeled theater will be limited to 500, early renewal is advised. New members may join between April 3 and 8.

In addition to the four concerts by internationally noted artists for $10 ($5 for students), members may also attend any other concert in the area presented under the auspices of the Community Concerts banner.

Mrs. Paul Meredith, membership drive chairman, will answer any questions about the tea, the kickoff luncheon on April 3 at the Los Gatos Lodge for workers, or the drive itself. She may be reached by phoning 356-3732. Campaign headquarters during the April 3-8 membership drive week will be the American Savings and Trust in Los Gatos on Santa Cruz Avenue. P.O. Box 1116 in Los Gatos is the organization's mailing address.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Q. Suppose my doctor says I need a private hospital room. Will Medicare pay for it?

A. Yes, so long as your doctor certifies that a private room is medically necessary for the treatment of your condition. If you are in a private room at your own request, you will have to pay the difference between the private and semi-private rates.

Q. Do I have to go directly from the hospital to the nursing home for Medicare to pay for my extended care costs? Suppose I was discharged and went home, and my doctor shortly decided that my condition was too serious to be treated at home?

A. The costs of your care in the extended care facility would be covered if you were admitted within 14 days after leaving the hospital. And, if you should leave the nursing home before you had used all of the days of care for which you were eligible, and later found that you had to return, the additional days up to the limit in that spell of illness would be covered, provided again you returned within 14 days.

Q. What is to prevent me from staying in the nursing home the full 100 days for which Medicare pays? As long as I can pay my $5 a day toward the bill for the last 80 days, does it matter how long I stay?

A. Your stay in the nursing home would be covered under Medicare only as long as your doctor determines that it is medically necessary--- that your condition requires the kind of skilled nursing care that can be provided only in a nursing home. Also, your case would be reviewed periodically to determine the extent of your ailment and whether it could be treated at home. You don't have to worry about being rushed out of a hospital or extended care facility before it is medically advisable, but you cannot expect to stay longer than is required for your proper medical treatment.

Q. Although I will be 65 in a couple of months, I plan to continue to manage the restaurant I own. I can't see any reason to apply for social security, since I won't be eligible anyway, but my wife tells me I should. Why?

A. Even though you continue to work in your own business, there are several reasons for applying now. First, you are eligible for Medicare regardless of whether you continue to work or not. Second, even though your annual income may be too high for you to collect monthly benefits, now if you should get sick and have to stop work, your monthly benefits could be started right away.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

In past years I have introduced legislation which would make the famous Hoover Commission a permanent and continuing body. Though Congress did not see fit to adopt the idea, there is an increasing sentiment for the establishment of a new commission which would make another searching investigation into the sprawling federal structure.

Twelve years ago, the second Hoover Commission completed its work on reorganization of the Executive Branch. Its work during the years 1953-55, and that of the previous commission during 1947-49, received widespread commendation for the economy and reform accomplished when many of their recommendations were adopted.

Since 1955, there has been no review of federal functions, although the government has mushroomed in size and the number of fields in which it has been active have multiplied. For example, in 1955, administrative budget expenditures totaled $64.4 billion. In fiscal 1967, federal expenditures have almost doubled to $126.7 billion. For 1968 the estimate is $135 billion.

The Johnson Administration estimates it will have a half million more employees on the Federal payroll in fiscal year 1968 than we had in 1955. And the payroll is up 50% since 1960.

So many federal agencies are handling the same problem that state and local governments do not know which to approach for cooperative programs. For example, five federal agencies are now dealing with community water supply, sewage, and sewage treatment plants. And there are 260 federal poverty programs, administered by sixteen separate departments and agencies.

President Johnson's recent budget submitted to Congress gives a good example of government growth. He has requested $451 million more for the "War on Poverty" than last year; $250 million more for the Demonstration Cities Program; $28 million additional for the National Teachers Corps; $94 million more for the Area Redevelopment program. In a single year for only twelve programs in the President's budget which do not include the national defense, the budget would increase federal spending $1.216 billion.

Clearly the time has come, if it isn't already overdue, for Congress to set up a new Hoover-type Commission to make recommendations for elimination of duplications in government functions, to achieve new economies and greater efficiency.

I heartily favor a new Hoover Commission, but still believe it should be made permanent. The ever changing problems and responsibilities of an ever changing society always push the Executive Branch into expansion and sometimes inefficient expansion. So we need a continuing analysis to a completely objective outside group which is not part of the sprawling bureaucracy of the Executive Branch. Government needs a fresh look from the outside.

A continuing Hoover Commission should not be for the purpose of opposing or supporting federal policies. This is properly the job of Congress. Rather, the Commission should seek ways of eliminating duplication and overlapping, consolidating services and activities and abolishing activities which are unnecessary or unfairly competitive with private business. The time is right for a new Hoover Commission--a permanent one, if possible.

W. V. Board authorizes Saratoga improvements

The Board of Trustees of West Valley College Thursday night accepted the low bid of the Warren F. Crinklaw Co. of $783,500 for construction, delivery and furnishing of 35 relocatable classrooms to be located on the Latimer Ave. parking lot of the temporary Campbell campus.

The board also approved the low bid of 3.3/8% simple interest for the leasing of the buildings, by the Wells Fargo Finance Leasing Department.

At the same time, the board authorized its secretary, Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college president, to prepare the agreement with the City of Saratoga for off-site development around the 143-acre Saratoga campus.

Involved is street widenings on Fruitvale and Allendale avenues, traffic signalization at Saratoga and Fruitvale (to be paid for by the City of Saratoga) and at the campus intersection at Fruitvale and Allendale (to be borne by the College district).

The board also approved a realignment of Allendale to provide direct entry into the Saratoga civic center complex across the street.

Harry Aumack, representing the engineering firm of Mark Thomas & Co., said that the total cost of the project, to the district, is estimated at $225,000, to include about $100,000 in roadway surface improvements, $25,000 for the Allendale-Fruitvale signalization, $86,000 for storm drainage to serve the entire 143-acre campus site, and $13,300 for on-site sanitary sewers. An additional outlay of $19,800 for sanitary sewers along Allendale would be subject to reimbursement as other users hooked on to the line, he said.

The proposal includes dedication to the City of Saratoga of some 5.2 acres by the college for the necessary improvements, Aumack said.

OTHER MATTERS

In other matters, the board:

1. Authorized going to bid on purchase of $64,818.80 in restaurant and kitchen equipment for the restaurant management training program. One half of this cost will be borne by Federal Vocational Education Act funds.

2. Approved additions to the master list of course offerings, including several data processing courses.

3. Authorized submission to the State Department of Education six projects eligible for Federal Vocational Education Act funds for 1967-68.

These include Data Processing, Vocational-Technical Education, Electronics, Licensed Vocational Nursing, Medical Assisting and Police Science. Total cost of these projects is $260,761, of which $91,202 in Federal funds was requested.

Dr. Hall told the board that approval had just been received for two previous projects--$62,945 toward the construction of the building for the Food Services program, and an instructional materials item of $5000. The federal contribution represents one half of the construction costs of the Food Services Building.

4. Approved claims totaling $33,329.74.

5. Approved a contract with William Henley, J-3 Associates, to provide a legislative information service to the college for a $500 total fee, through June 30. The contract is subject to renegotiation after June 30 if the State Legislature remains in session beyond that date.

6. Authorized an inter-district contract with San Jose Junior College District, similar to past agreements, which provides that the costs of instruction for students from either district attending the other are to be paid for by district of residence to district of attendance. In addition to the instruction costs there will be a use of facilities charge of $150.

Did you know that almost 50% of the world's two-hundred-million telephones are in the United States? In fact, your phone is one of more than 10 million in California alone! Our state has more telephones than countries like Russia (7.9), Canada (7.4), France (6.1) or Italy (5.9). Here's another fact you might find interesting: the average American makes 622 calls per year. Which just goes to show how much people depend on their phone to get things done.

Planning a program for your group or club? Your Campbell Business Office will be glad to arrange an interesting lecture or demonstration on one of the many phases of telephone communications. Just give us a call or drop in and chat about it.

Dialing long distance calls direct is faster and easier than placing calls through the Operator. And, if for some reason you reach a wrong number after dialing, it's just as easy to be sure you're not charged for the call.

After you hang up, dial "0" for Operator, and tell her you've reached a wrong number. She'll ask you the number you were trying to dial, and help you complete your call. We want to be sure you don't pay for a call that goes to a wrong number.

Want answers to an income tax problem? Again this year, the Internal Revenue Service has people on duty to answer your questions by telephone. If there's an office near you, you'll find the number in the white pages of your telephone book under the heading: "United States Government, Internal Revenue Service."

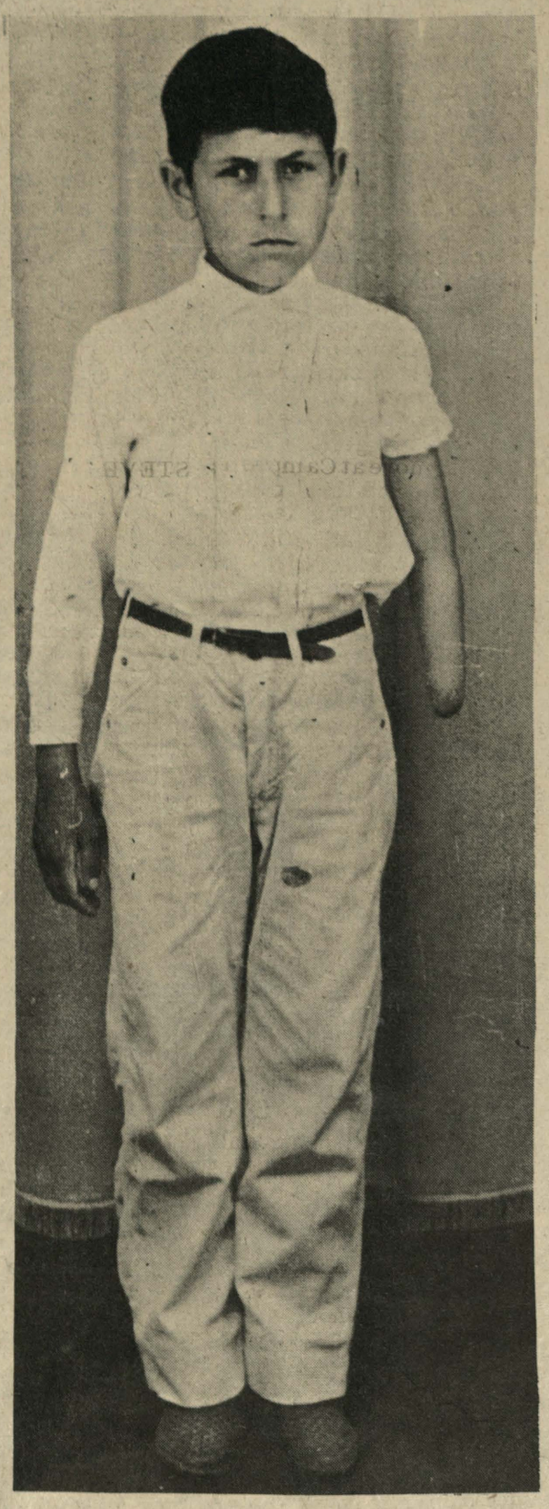
Handicapped South American boy receives limb from Lions Club



RAOUL PEREDO

A young boy in Lujan, Argentina, Raoul Peredo, is using both hands this week, thanks to the generosity of the Campbell Lions Club, and the Hosmer Corporation of Campbell.

The 11-year-old boy was born without a complete lower arm, and comes from a low-income family in Lujan, west of Buenos Aires. Word of his plight reached Dick Bersano of the Campbell Lions Club, who suggested that the club make this their project for the year.

Hosmer Corporation of Campbell, manufacturers of artificial limbs, furnished the arm for the boy. The Lions Club provided the money for shipping and doctor's reports. The club is sponsoring a curb painting project to raise money for expenses. Dave LaBarbera is chairman of this project. They are also selling light bulbs to help defray costs.

Bob Crawford is president of Campbell Lions Club. The local club was chartered in 1951 and has sponsored many humanitarian projects since its organization.

IT'S A MYSTERY TO US TOO--In spite of repeated calls to various companies, the WHY these poles are leaning at a 45 degree angle along the railway right-of-way between Railway Ave. and the San Tomas Expressway still remains a mystery. We can only tell you that they aren't Pacific Telephone poles. They do belong jointly to Western Union and the Southern Pacific railroad. But apparently they aren't too concerned about the fact that the poles are leaning and the wires are touching a building along the way, so we guess we shouldn't worry either.

WHO'S AT BAT?--Richard Buck (right), president, Campbell Community Hospital Employees Association, and Malcolm F. Stewart, child care program supervisor at Eastfield Children's Home, Campbell, appear to be choosing up sides.

Actually, they're admiring the gifts of baseballs, softballs, bats, three yards of sand and new board for the home's sandbox, donated by the hospital employees.

Donald Voorhees to conduct S.J. Symphony on June 3

Donald Voorhees, musical director of the Bell Telephone Hour, will be guest conductor of the San Jose Symphony on June 3. His appearance in the San Jose Civic Auditorium will include an evening concert.

The Symphony Orchestra and its supporting Association have been an important part of San Jose community's life for 86 years. As far back as the 1880's there were musical societies in the town from which the present symphony can claim heritage.

Voorhees has been conductor of the Bell Telephone Hour Orchestra for 26 years and, as roving ambassador of goodwill, has been of community orchestras in Bakersfield, Fresno and Sacramento.

A native of Allentown, Pennsylvania, Voorhees made his Broadway debut at the age of 17 as the leader of an orchestra that played for Eddie Cantor and Bart Williams in "Broadway Brevities of 1920."

He began his radio career in 1925, directing one of the first national musicals when the National Broadcasting Company network was started.

His association with the Bell Telephone Hour began on radio in 1940. During this time he conducted all but five of the 850 consecutive weekly radio broadcasts.

Millions of Americans were visually introduced to Voorhees when the Telephone Hour switched to television in 1959. He has since been widely acclaimed for his efforts on this program.

Voorhees and officers of the San Jose Symphony Association, the orchestra's supporting organization, are working on details of his visit and planning the program. His concert will be part of the orchestra's regular concert season.

Rolling Hills tops in fitness

BY SALLY HOWE

Rolling Hills School has been tumbling up--at least some of the seventh and eighth grade students have been doing a lot of bouncing, jumping, and twisting, and with notable results.

Some very agile R.H. students, along with more from Campbell, Cypress, and Blackford Schools, have just completed a course in gymnastics, where individual skills in balancing, vaulting, and tumbling were taught.

The four schools, who make up Division III of Santa Clara County, held a competitive afternoon of sports in Rolling Hills gym recently.

Guiding lights for the tournament were Don Peckham and Thursa Green, R.H. gym instructors, who were amply rewarded by seeing Rolling Hills finish first in competition, their girls and boys winning more than half the possible placings in the ten events offered.

The four participating schools went on to compete the following week in the eighth annual seventh and eighth grade Gymnastics Tournament at San Jose State College where R.H. again came out on top.

In the division contest, three first places were won by Liz Pond, R.H., in floor exercise, tumbling, and balance beam, one by Stacie Wardle, R.H., trampoline; Nancy Wight, Cypress, vaulting; Joe Trione, Blackford, horizontal bar; Ernie Fairchild, R.H., tumbling; Tom Murrison, Blackford, one in vaulting and one in floor exercise, and Jason Kouns, Campbell, trampoline.

In the county event, Stacie Wardle tied for first with Jan Northam of Cupertino in tumbling. Jan also was first in balance beam and floor exercise. Stacie won the trampoline event and R.H. took a total of 19 placings out of a possible 50, beating Cupertino by seven. R.H. boys took 20 placings, winning over one of 13 Rolling Hills students who participated in--and won--a county-wide gymnastics event recently.

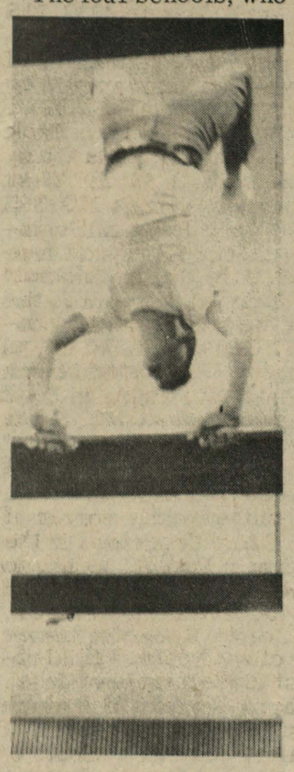
Blackford.

Peckham and Mrs. Green spend their after-school hours coaching students who wish to compete in such tournaments, their attention now turning to team sports, such as softball.

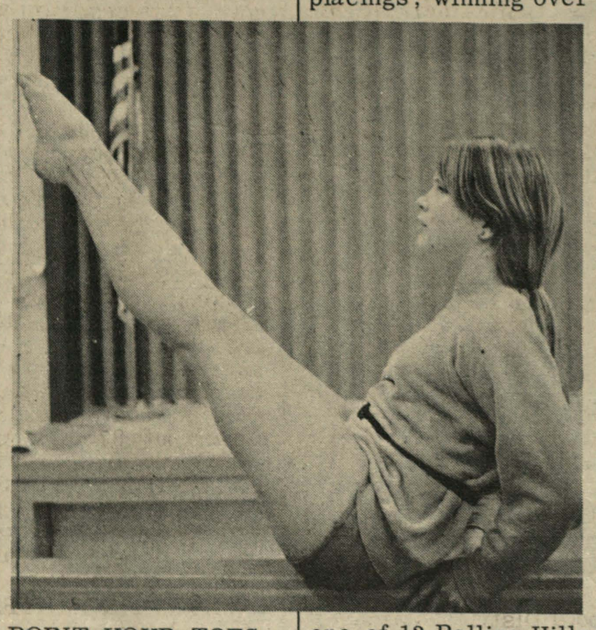
The agility of the young people is amazing and their instructors maintain high standards of student behavior. One student, whose classroom conduct had been unsatisfactory, was dismissed from the gymnastics team just prior to the county competition.

The students are appreciative of one anothers skills and clap loudly at performances they admire.

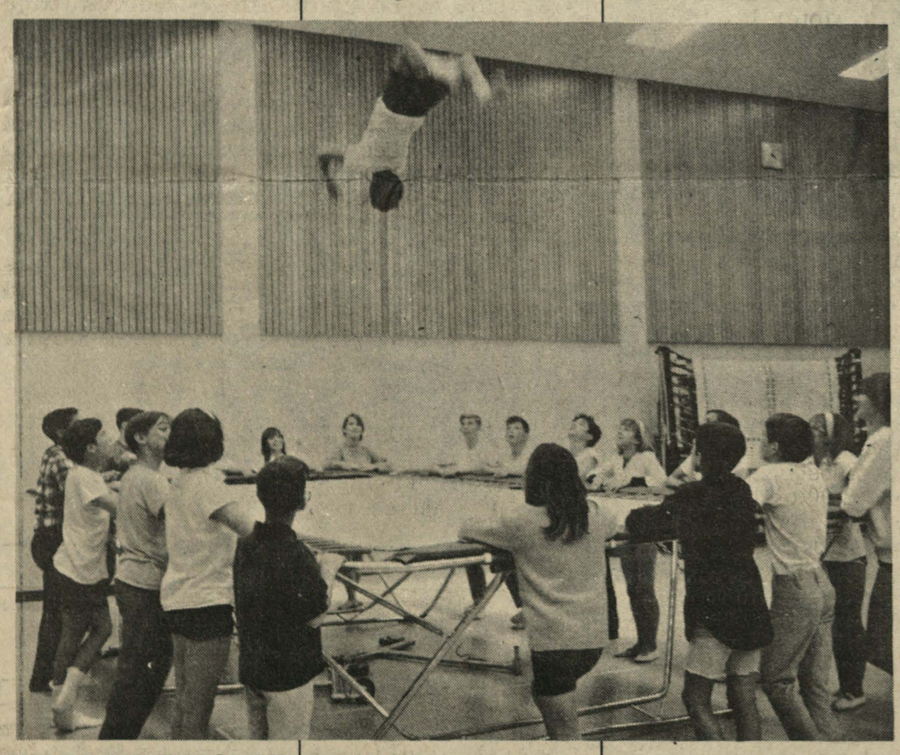
And the walls watch them tumbling down.



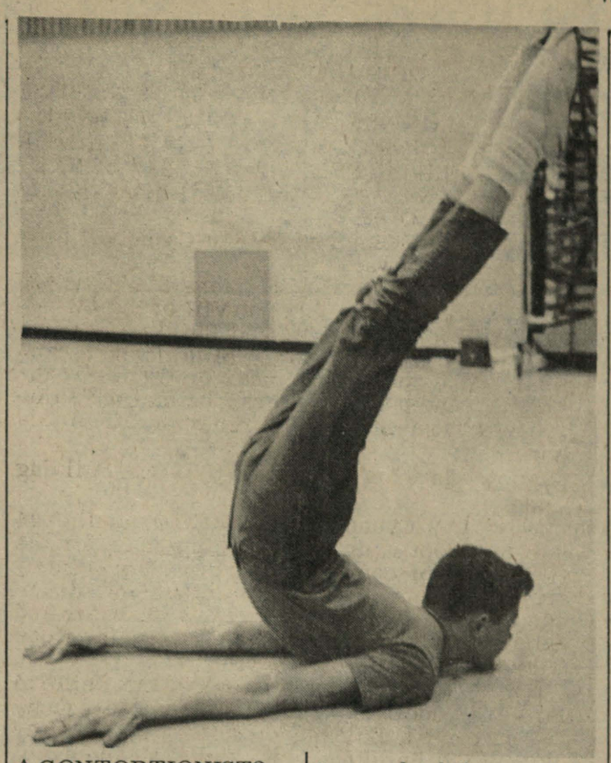
BAR NONE--It's hard to believe, but that young man on the horizontal bar is an eighth grade student from Rolling Hills School. He's Matt Carter, who placed second in county competition recently.



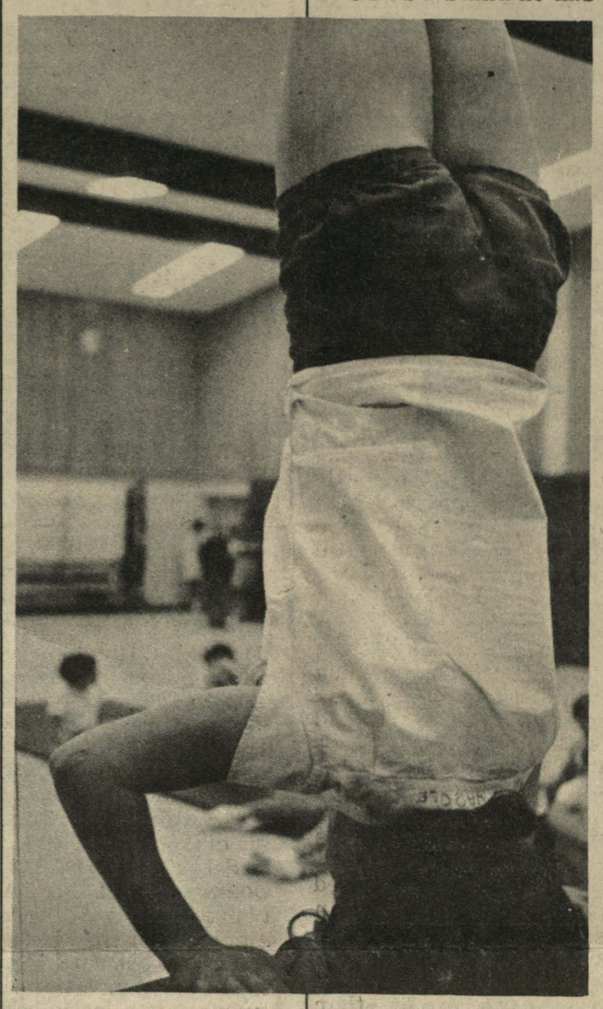
POINT YOUR TOES--That's a narrow beam called a balance beam which Liz Pond is working on. Liz was one of 13 Rolling Hills students who participated in--and won--a county-wide gymnastics event recently.



HE FLYS THROUGH THE AIR--Appreciative fellow students at Rolling Hills School applaud as Mike Martinez "flys high" over the trampoline.



A CONTORTIONIST?--Mark Gaetano, Rolling Hills student, practices a chest stand he has learned while participating in the school's gymnastics program.



HEADS UP--Stacie Wardle won two first placings in girls gymnastics at San Jose State College recently. Rolling Hills, Stacie's school, placed first in the seventh and eighth grade events.

Teen-age drug party raided

Five area teen-agers, including a 14-year-old girl, have been arrested on narcotics charges by Campbell Police. Four of the group were apprehended in the midst of a marijuana party in an upstairs Campbell Ave. apartment.

The fifth teenager walked into the apartment after officers had raided it. They found marijuana cigarettes in his pocket, police said.

Two of the youths, both 15, have previously been arrested for narcotics violations. The youths told officers they pooled their money and purchased a $10 "lid" (tobacco can) of marijuana.

Booked into county jail for possession and furnishing marijuana was Michael Sovia, 19, of 1159 W. Hamilton Ave. The girl, and the three other teenage boys, were placed in juvenile hall for possession of marijuana.

A San Jose youth has also been arrested for possession of narcotics.

Turn off those parking lights, cautions CHP

California Highway Patrol Commissioner Harold W. Sullivan has reminded California motorists that it is illegal for them to drive with only their parking lights on.

During the winter months in California many drivers have a habit of switching on their parking lights in the dusky morning and evening hours.

This could be extremely dangerous because drivers approaching from the opposite direction could mistake them for the headlights, and the smaller size of the parking lights could lead them to believe the car is much farther away than it is. In a passing or left turn situation a serious accident could result from this confusion about the distance between the cars.

"There are no exceptions to this law," Sullivan said. "Parking lights must never be used alone when the car is being driven."

City Council plans advisory committee

A 14-member citizens executive advisory committee, plus a chairman and vice-chairman, to study the city's projected capital improvement program and leading to possibly an eventual bond issue, may be appointed by the City Council next Monday night, March 27.

The council in a study session this week indicated that the appointment of the executive committee members, representing the community on a geographic basis, showed the necessary first step in acquainting the citizens with the city's needs and how they can be attained.

According to the format established on the recommendation drafted by City Manager Bob Stephens and Jim Duffield, C. of C. manager, the executive committee would expand its membership and then assign various sub-committees for study and research on all phases of the city's fiscal picture and the proposed six-year capital improvement program.

The City Council also met in a special session on Tuesday night of this week (after press time) to "catch up" on some of the items that have been deferred from past meetings.

The council also is scheduled next Monday to give first reading to the long-awaited sign ordinance which has the prior approval of the Planning Commission at the Chamber of Commerce.

Building keeps at slow pace

Despite encouraging signs that the log-jam in building activity in Campbell may soon break up, the building permit total for the first two months of 1967, is still below that of the same period of 1966, according to Wally Byron, city building official.

During January and February 1966, there were 45 building permits issued for a total valuation of $730,570. For the first two months this year, there have been 56 permits taken out for a valuation of $449,918.

In February, this year, there were nine permits issued for single-family dwellings for $167,080 and eight in January for $153,095. Only one commercial building permit was taken out in February for $36,000 and one in January for $30,800. There were no industrial permits issued in February but two in January came to $26,495.

In February the 10 permits for alterations and additions totaled $16,970 and eight in January for $19,525.

In February also one swimming pool permit was issued for $3100.

APPOINTED--Roy S. Cameron has been named director of planning for the County of Santa Clara by County Executive Howard W. Campen. He succeeds Karl J. Belser, who recently retired to take a U.N. planning position on Taiwan.

The 46-year old San Francisco native assumed the $18,242 a year post after 13 years with the County Planning Department, the last eight as assistant director.

What are qualifications for school board membership

Closing date for filing for public school board positions was Friday, March 3. Elections will be held on Tuesday, April 18.

Citizens who serve as school board members do so as representatives of the public in the conduct of the education system. Any citizen may serve on the school board. Every citizen should be concerned about the quality of his district's school board members.

Except for a few school boards in cities where trustees are, by charter, elected in conjunction with the city councilmen or county supervisors, and county boards of education members, all school districts will be electing trustees at this time.

Citizens may wish to know what board members consider to be the qualifications of candidates for these responsible positions.

The following checklist has been developed by the California School Boards Association.

1. Is the candidate known and respected in the community?
2. Has the candidate an unselfish interest in the public schools, the community, and in children and youth?
3. Has the candidate the necessary time for, and a willingness to devote the necessary time to, this important position?
4. Does the candidate have personal interests which may be in conflict with the best interests of the district?
5. Is the candidate seeking the position for personal prestige or political gain?
6. Has the candidate arrived at a position of recognized leadership in the community or in his own occupation?
7. Has the candidate a record of the kind of leadership that will represent the district as a whole rather than a record identifying him with a particular group, cause, or geographical area?
8. Does the candidate have a layman's relationship to public education?
9. Does the candidate show evidence of knowledge of moral and spiritual values?
10. Is the candidate familiar with the political boundaries and the educational, cultural, and economic resources and needs of the school district?
11. Is the candidate aware of, and sensitive to, the cross-currents of community thinking pertaining to the basic concepts of public education and the operation of the schools in the district?
12. Is the candidate able to think independently and objectively about problems and situations.
13. Does the candidate consistently reserve judgment on important issues until all available facts have been obtained and weighed?
14. Will the candidate work to develop unity among the members of the board, contributing to harmonious development of the public school program.
15. Is the candidate familiar with the broad responsibilities and functions of the board? Is he capable of recognizing the jurisdictional power and responsibilities of the board, as distinguished from the responsibilities of the administration?
16. Will the candidate remain loyal to his trust under stress, but willingly accede to the decisions of the majority?
17. Does the candidate have the ability and the courage to explain and implement a board decision which is necessary but may be unpopular?
18. Does the candidate understand that board membership involves assisting in the interpretation to the community of school problems and programs?
19. Is the candidate able to carry on cheerfully when public appreciation of his efforts seems to be lacking?
20. Does the candidate have a sense of humor?

They have adopted school colors of their namesake Bruins of UCLA--Columbia blue, navy blue and white, and adopted the "Mighty Bruin Bear" as the school symbol.

The committee has gaged in writing a constitution for student body government under Fields' direction.

Fields is now director of student activities at Leigh High School.

Nursery school children meet the outside world

BY SALLY HOWE

NURSERY SCHOOL

When today's four and five year old sets forth upon the sea of life he'll be a lot more prepared and less easily impressed than his father and mother were.

Principal reason for this is the education he receives at a young and tender age.

For instance, pupils at the Campbell Congregational Pre-School recently enjoyed the company of two visitors from the community who gave the children a view into two unusual and different professions.

Their first visitors represented a profession with which they'll likely have a great deal of contact during their lives.

Dentist David Roberts came equipped with false teeth (not his own), dental mirrors, bibs, a white coat, and a big smile. Somewhat apprehensive at first, the nursery school children found that he, too, was a "daddy" and had a boy about their own age.

Mostly the young people were fascinated about Dr. Roberts explanations about teeth care, and even more fascinated with the huge set of "store" teeth he let them examine. They took turns wearing a dental coat, being a patient, and visiting with the dentist.

Three very different visitors came to the school the following day. One was a lady doctor, a lady animal doctor. The small fry soon learned that she was a veterinarian. With her came two Alaskan Malamute dogs, Kali and Yaki.

Dr. Lauren DeRock is a recent graduate of Davis, currently practicing at the Animal Medical Center. The children were less impressed with the doctor's qualifications than they were with the soulful obedience of Yaki and Kali, who at eight months, were extremely well behaved.

Dr. De Rock talked with the children about how to approach a strange dog. Yaki and Kali proved to be extremely bad examples, as they were so friendly that the children found they were all too easy to make friends with.

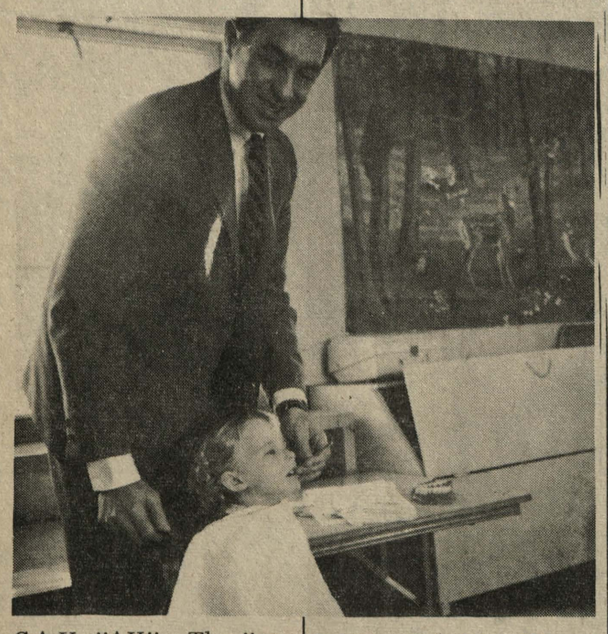
Recently the nursery school children have had visitors such as firemen, medical doctors, and policemen. They have had first hand experience visiting local businesses, and have had close contact with professions and jobs in the community.

Modern nursery schools are finding that this up-to-date approach of positive action has had a noticeable effect on their children. Contrary to the permissive school of a decade ago, these schools keep the children so busy and interested that they have little time to make trouble.

But, they learn, and grow accordingly.

OH, GRANDMA, WHAT BIG--Dentist David Roberts shows twins Kevin and Korine Hubbard, 215 Michele, Campbell, some mighty big dentures. Roberts brought the oversize chompers when he came to visit the Campbell Congregational Church Pre-School and showed the small fry that dentists are people. Onlooker is Paul Lange, 4616 Lage Dr., who isn't too sure if the teeth are going to bite.

DOG DAYS AT NURSERY SCHOOL--Dr. Lauren De Rock's Alaskan Malamute isn't the least bit afraid of Gordon West's small hand which Congregational Church Pre-School director, Mrs. Dorine Alvord, is placing on the dog's head. Watching and learning are Diane Murphy and Matt Baxter. Dr. De Rock is one of several visitors from the community who 've visited the school recently.



SAY "AH"--The "patient" who's sitting in the dentist's "chair" is Kim Stadmiller, 2432 Denvi Dr., a student at the Congregational Church Pre-School. Kim and her classmates got a first hand lesson and visit when Dr. David Roberts, Campbell dentist, visited the school and talked about teeth care.
